NORWAY AND VICINITY.
The Bowdoin Glee Club.
The third in the course of the Norway school entertainments being given by the senior class was held Friday evening at the Opera House to a good-sized audience listened to an excellent musical program of thirteen numbers given by the Bowdoin Glee Club. Each number received a hearty encore and several of the selections were given a particularly heavy hand.
The reader, Mr. Donnell, responded to four encores with some very comical and striking hits.
The selections of the Glee and Mandolin clubs were well received, especially the college songs that were given as the closing number. Carl E. Stone, organist, Norway was seen as one of the first mandolin players. The bass solo by A. W. Stone was a good number and Mr. Stone received a good hand.
The entire program was so well selected and presented that it would be difficult to designate which was liked the best, but that all were well satisfied with the evening's entertainment goes without saying.
Following the program a dance was held which was participated in by about 40 couples. Stearns' orchestra furnished music. The grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Akers.
This was the most successful of any of the course yet given.
The Murray-Rosell Show.
This company played a three nights' engagement at the Opera House this week. Monday evening "A Ragged Politician" was presented. Tuesday evening "Hearts of the Blue Ridge" and Wednesday evening "Saved from Shame."
The attendance each night was good and the plays were well received. This statement is borne out by the fact that each night's attendance was a little larger than on the previous evening.
Pete Murray did some amusing stunts that took well and the leading lady took part well. The other parts were taken in a very creditable manner.
Specialties were given between the acts each evening, consisting of illustrated songs, pictures and jokes. On Tuesday evening Bertina pleased the audience by setting out of the straight jacket in 35 seconds.
Norway high school graduation will be in June and the class parts as follows:

Norway Municipal Court.

Saturday there were three people before the court as sort of a continuation of the Moses Mosher case, which was heard Wednesday, Feb. 12. The three were George E. Hobson, who pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and disturbing the peace. Marty Curtis was arraigned and plead not guilty. She was tried and found guilty. Henry M. Whitcomb plead guilty. The Moses Mosher house seems to be the heart of these people and they seem to disturb the people at North Waterford to a considerable extent. Each was sentenced $5 and costs, the costs for each one amounting to $10 to $14.
John Bohn was in court, Wednesday, on the charge of assaulting a woman in Woodstock. He went to the house to collect a bill which the woman could not pay. Two children who were in the room above heard the talk and looking through the register saw Bohn strike the woman. He was fined $10 and costs amounting in all to about $37.00.
Octavia J. Parsons.
The very sudden death of Octavia J. Parsons occurred Tuesday morning about 8:30. Although Miss Parsons had been suffering with slight cold, she arose Tuesday morning as usual and had a party dressed, when she felt faint and lay back in bed and in a few minutes life was extinct, due to heart trouble. About seven years ago she fell and received injuries to one of her limbs, from which she never fully recovered and the past few years she could walk only by the aid of canes.
The deceased was born April 10, 1831, in Norway, daughter of William Parsons, and Dorothy S. Parsons, daughter of John Parsons. She came of Revolutionary stock. Her father was a member of the State legislature and a general in the war of 1812, when he was only 29 years of age. The paper giving his commission is still in existence. His ancestors can be traced back to Jeffery Parsons, who came from England at an early date and settled in the commonwealth of Massachusetts. In early life Miss Parsons was a teacher and followed this vocation for several years in Illinois before going to Geneva with her sister, Martha A., in the fall of 1865. The sisters on coming to Geneva opened a millinery store. The ladies prospered in the business, which they continued for many years. Martha died on February 14, 1902. The early interest which the deceased manifested in educational and intellectual progress never waned, and her extensive reading and original thought made an hour's chat with her a mental tonic. She was a life long Christian, and a zealous and consistent member of the Baptist church. Hers was a truly benevolent nature; of her means she gave freely, and of her it may well be said the right hand knew not what the left hand did. She has entered into a blessed reward, and the memory of her noble life will be cherished in the hearts of the people.
Of a family of ten children, she is survived by only two brothers, Daniel T., who has been several years in Joel S. Parsons, who has been spending the winter there.
The funeral services were held at the Baptist church on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. Pearson officiating. The remains were interred in Oakwood cemetery.
This is what a friend says of her life: "She had such a way of greeting and of goodbye! I often wondered how it was, that such loads were lifted from my life by this gentle lady. A heavy cloud lowered low in those days between me and my sun, and somehow her greeting and goodbye illumined and glorified the path I trod. I believe that she brought blessings to many lives. There was a something wholesome and refreshing in her atmosphere. Her words were clear-cut and to the point; her mind was alert and lucid as a sunbeam; and she radiated health and soul and heart."
"Just as the spring with its birds and blossoms is about to bloom, she had gone down into the Valley of the Shadows. If any mortal can make that Valley radiant with the hope of things unseen, she can. The Shadows cannot be so gloomy and dark as they are, if it is decided to die, now that she has gone before. It is not terrible what we can watch hands white as hers waving us a welcome."

TORTURING PAIN.

Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Cured Him.

Thousands of grateful people are telling every day how Doan's Kidney Pills cured them of distressing and dangerous kidney and bladder troubles.

Yet other thousands are suffering every day from these same ills. Why? They are either very negligent or very skeptical. Neglect of kidney disorders leads to dropsy, diabetes, Bright's disease and other fatal diseases.

Sincere, honest testimony like the following should convince every skeptic.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did and lived. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

A. C. SPRAGUE, could not ride a horse and sometimes was unable even to ride in a car. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no discomfort at all."

Written for the Advertiser. Growing Old Together.

We are growing old together, John, and what about it, you care? The rest has touched your looks so brown, There's silver in my hair. But she, the love-light in my eyes Burns clear and kind and true, As when that morn, long years ago, I gave myself to you.

This circle on my finger, John, My wedding ring of gold, It proves we're growing old; But while I hear the tender tones Of love in your dear voice, Tho' young or old, with joy untold, My heart must ever rejoice.

The little young strength and freedom, John, That once was in your gait, Has changed to stately dignity, We're growing old, dear mate, But though age grasp our waning power, And dim them one by one, Warm, bright and true the love of ours Holds, strong as it began.

So down the hill together, John, We'll travel hand in hand, Nor fear to hear the summons To a brighter, fairer land. For love like ours must last for aye, Beyond life's grave of victory, And take the chill from Death.

Written for the Advertiser. Odes to Months of the Year.

January. The first month of the year at thou, With storm-tossed trees and naked bough; Old Winter's hand is laidly laid Upon the river, hill and glade.

February. A snowy mantle far and wide Covers the earth to outward side, Which eases and flows from shore to shore, And will not rest till March is o'er.

March. March, stormy month of all the year, What brings thee here to give us cheer? Thou bringest winds and rain and cold, Do make us feel that life is old.

April. The gentle rain falls on the earth And gives to Nature a new birth; The daffodil and crocus near Denote that Spring again is here.

May. Oh sunny skies of cheerful May, What pleasant glimpses along our way Of landscape fair and bosky dell, The mountains high where all is well.

June. Thou art a month of beauty and flowers To deck with garlands my lady's bower, The green grass waving and the wild birds' song, Make one wish that June would linger long.

July. The sultry days have come again, A languorous silence seems to reign, A driving bee hums and the air As if it had no thought of care.

August. Old Sol from out the calm blue sky, His fervid heat pours down on us, The farmer views his growing corn With pleasant thoughts of harvest morn.

September. A faint sweet perfume on the breeze, Attracts the scent of honey bees; The orchard branches to and fro Disclose their treasures bending low.

October. Thy autumn skies and clear bright days Give us new life along our ways; The yellow poplars on the vine And purple grapes which make good wine.

November. The harvest of the year is done, The jovial farmer and his son Look back upon a well spent year, Their labor crowned with glad and cheer.

December. The softly falling flakes of snow Or winter's coming, cold and blow They tell as whirling through the air, And covering all the landscape bare.

H. G. CHASE.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: P. J. Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

WILLING TO BE OBSCURE.

Modest!
Well, I should say.
I might perhaps
Be qualified.
But then who isn't, pray?
No, thank you,
Gentlemen.
It touches me deeply.
And I feel very much flattered.
But really
I couldn't accept
The presidential nomination.
Press of business
And other things.
You know.
Would stand in the way.
But, say,
If it is really so
That no one will take
The vice presidency,
I will sacrifice
Personal feelings.
Give up, if need be.
My two by eleven business
And accept.
I'm so tender hearted
I can't stand it
To see
The American people
Bowed down with grief
Because no one
Will take second place.
I'll play the hero
And be it.
Willingly
Plunge into obscurity
For the sake
Of my dear native land.
I may be regarded
As a chump.
But what care I?
Great men
Are always misunderstood.
Me for the vice presidency.
Farewell ambition!
When do I begin
Drawing my salary?

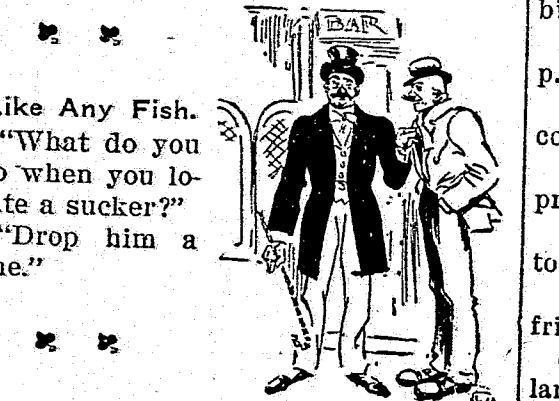

It Loomed Large.
"He is gradually losing his sight."
"Can he see anything now?"
"Only his fin- ish."

Old Timer.
"Come over here a moment," called Simpkins to Timekins, who was sitting at another table in the restaurant.
"What is it?" asked the obliging Timekins, laying aside his napkin and complying with the request.
"You used to live in the country, didn't you?"
"Yes, but that was many years ago."
"So I have understood, and that is why I called you."
"Want some expert advice on agriculture?"
"No, I just wanted to see if this egg they have brought me in for breakfast wasn't an old acquaintance of yours."

Complimentary.
"What time is that you are playing?"
"One of my own."
"Let me congratulate you."
"On the melody?"
"Well, not exactly. On the fact that you won't have to keep it locked up nights to prevent other composers from stealing it."

Revenge.
"He doesn't think much of society. He calls it codfish aristocracy."
"Perhaps he hasn't been invited to its entertainments?"
"Oh, yes; he has."
"And he declined?"
"Yes. He said he wouldn't go to cod-fish balls."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

There are some of us who were placed at a disadvantage by merely being born.

Some very conscientious people will take nothing belonging to others, but when they refuse to take our point of view we call them not conscientious, but obstinate.

There is this peculiarity about great men—they are all dead ones.

Many people are as apologetic as if they were thrust into the center of things without due notification.

For every spoiled child fate has a spare rod in pickle.

When a man is too fresh he is apt to get it salted to him in great shape.

The man who is fond of his own company always insists upon choosing it.

How to Wash Chamois.
Every one does not know the secret make it as good as new. Wet the chamois in a weak solution of washing soda and water, rubbing plenty of white soap into it. Let it lie for two hours, then rub between the hands under a running faucet. Rinse in a weak solution of soda and water with a little soap shaken in. If rinsed in pure water, it becomes hard. It is the small particles of soap that give it silky softness. Wring in a dry towel and dry quickly, pulling and brushing well.

OXFORD.

Death to Any Man Who Enters Here.

Members of the Ladies' Relief Corps held an entertainment, Friday night in Robinson hall. The entertainment consisted of a supposed meeting of the new woman's reform club. The old saying that women are always late held good in this case as it was 8:30 p. m. when the worthy president called the meeting to order. The rise of curtain disclosed the members present robed in black gowns with white caps, and the emblem of the order, a skull and cross bones, in the hair of each gown. Your scribe asked if there was any significance to the emblem and was told that it indicated each member had killed at least one man.

The club motto, "Death to any man who enters here," was conspicuously displayed at back of stage. Meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. George M. Cash, and the horrible manner in which she expounded the woman's rights doctrine to the listening members would almost make me believe the Millington had come.

After the regular business of the meeting had been disposed of a ballot was taken on the application of a new member. Horrible to relate the first ballot resulted in a rejection of the candidate.

Each member promptly disclaimed any knowledge of how the fatal ballot came there, and after a lengthy discussion a new ballot was ordered by the president which resulted in an election and Miss Van Horn-blower was conducted to the lodge room for initiation. Her path was strewn with many and rough showing her the troubles and vicissitudes of life and heavy bundles were hung about her shoulders being in anticipation of the burdens she must bear through life.

Her failing to make full confession of her sins she was cast into the bottomless pit, from which she was rescued by a fainting condition. Miss Van Horn-blower then took the obligation the penalties of which are too horrible to print even in the "Norway Advertiser" and was duly declared a member.

The president called upon the members for their experience since last meeting and all had some appropriate reply. One member stating that all she had to do was to point her finger at her husband, remaining there until told to appear. Vice president, Miss Bertie Phillips, read a lengthy paper on what the new women intend to accomplish.

She stated the fact that we did have a good road and commissioner many years ago, even if he was a man. Miss Agnes Mulholland presented for subscription a book which she had written "On how to manage a husband," nearly every member took from one to ten copies.

When all business had been transacted the president raised for order and members rose to sing the closing ode. The conductor in looking for the music accidentally discovered a "man" under the table. Consternation reigned supreme. The man was quickly bound hand and foot and cast into a chair. A lively discussion then ensued as to his disposition. Some were for killing him at once and throwing his body into the bottomless pit, but wiser heads prevailed.

The man was finally decided that if he reveal the secrets he had witnessed here he would be spared. The victim de-livered somewhat at first but finally consented.

He went swimmingly until asked to swear that he would never tell his wife to boss. Against this he kicked so viciously that he was unceremoniously packed into a box and nailed up. NORWAY AND VICINITY.
A Norway Boy Abroad.
Worcester, Mass., Mar. 1, '08.
DEAR EDITOR:—Enclosed find the price of two glasses of beer for which please send me the "Highway Eagle" for eight weeks as per enclosed offer.
Sergeant George H. Hill of the Worcester police has the "high, dry and lofty" come every week and when I saw your offer I decided to take a chance and run the chance of buying a glass of beer. Wishing to get the full value of my hard earned coin I have whistled up all my gall and ask you to throw in the copy of Feb. 21, as I want to read about the production of "Arizona," having an interest in all local tales.
Am managing to hold my job and still do the day police job from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and like as well as ever. Expect to get down to good old Norway this summer and view at close range your newest "Satanstoe" Alchides, also "Waxer" Cook, Dr. Richardson, he of the new "tossorial" stand, "Hearts Memories" Foster, the two Kimballs, "musical Frank" and "Kim Q. S." as well as all the other good old standbys of the village, including Tim Smith, proprietor of the Elton House.
I hope that the three year term will find favor with the moss-backs and that Horace Oxnard will be road commissioner for then perhaps the streets will be something besides a level of mud and a riot of dust, as they always are according to whether the skies weep or the wind blows.
In reading the paper which occasionally drifts into my clutches I revel in the glowing and gossamer gossip from the neighboring hamlets, enjoying every word. Then I read the want ads and business notices. In reading Dr. Parmenter's "it pays to walk" ad it strikes me that V. W. Hills had better start a "Western Walking Club" in opposition. What is John Woodman "just setting out" to do nowadays? You know John is always just setting out to do something or other.
Since I saw you last I have had a murder, six suicides, one railroad wreck and an abortion case besides fires and lots of minor stuff, and was fortunate enough to get all the facts and spread my gush on the front page.
Pomp has left here and gone to Boston to work on the Traveller. I believe I miss him as I saw him nearly every day while here and he really tried to do his work. Well, don't forget the extra copy of the "Bugs" and remember me to friends. If you don't find the 10 cents you will know that I forgot to send it.
Sincerely yours,
RALPH I. TRASH.

Town meeting passed off harmoniously with liberal appropriations where needed. The old list of officers were re-elected. $500 was raised to finish the expense of completing the erection of the Soldiers' monument, which is expected in town at any time. The town appropriated $1,000 one year ago for the same good cause. Am sorry to say that one prominent business man of the town raised objections to appropriating so much for the purpose, but a test vote of the meeting was unanimous for the question except one little low "nay." Bethel filled a quota of over 500 men beside many others who were from other towns. What love of country can a citizen of the prosperous U. S. entertain in his heart, who would not be willing to be taxed enough to pay $1,500 toward erecting a monument to their honor. Am happy to say that he is not a native of Bethel. He remarked that the monument was to be put up down here in the heart, who would not be willing to be taxed enough to pay $1,500 toward erecting a monument to their honor. Am happy to say that he is not a native of Bethel. He remarked that the monument was to be put up down here in the heart, who would not be willing to be taxed enough to pay $1,500 toward erecting a monument to their honor.

Ladies may be interested to know that an advance tip on Easter millinery indicates that the mushroom hats of last season will be somewhat modified in regard to dimensions and in some cases turned up slightly in front. The men who pay for Easter hats may also be interested to know that there will probably be no modification in the milliners' charges for the hats and in fact the price is likely to be turned up a trifle both in front and behind.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM
No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have. In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless. The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition. Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

his last words being "When will papa come home?"
A letter from S. G. Packard, born in Oxford county, in referring to the death of his mother says "No death in our family has seemed to leave so great a vacant place as mother's and a place that no one else can fill, a grief that is not to be consoled, a wound that refuses to be healed. In referring to his own sufferings he says, "What is life but hard work, trouble and sickness." But there is a heroic side, to act our part well and try and make the best of our opportunities.

Aunt Patty's Plain Talks.
I would say to every young man, who is beginning to do business for himself, never make a promise that you cannot keep.
If you do not see your way clear to do a thing say so; if you want to get trusted and do not see a way to pay at some particular time, say so; this trusting to luck never paid any bills, nor made one popular.
Never promise what you cannot perform; being just as good as your word is a wonderful help to a man in a business career; twenty cents cash down is better than a promise of five dollars that you never pay.
It is much the better way to go slow and safe, pay as you go, and people will have more confidence in you. If you come to a hard spot and need to have people trust you, they will have more faith in you, if you have always done your level best, been upright and honorable in all your dealings, and have respected yourself enough to always fulfill your promises.

sent him to look at the Dudley place. Didn't know anything about the place before. Paid $1100 for the place and $75 for some wood, hay and apples.

This completed the testimony for the plaintiff's side and a recess of ten minutes was taken. During recess the defense agreed to a compromise and when court opened again the case was dismissed.

The next business was a hearing before the court of a rather complicated case of G. W. Gorman and Donald A. Eaton of Rumford Falls, L. W. Blanchard, attorney for Gorman, and N. G. Foster for Eaton. This was an appeal case where Gorman had brought suit against Eaton for rent and Eaton had sued Gorman for repairs to the building. There was a disagreement, Gorman claiming that the repairs were made without his consent and Eaton claiming about vice versa.

Wednesday afternoon the arguments in the Gorman-Eaton case were made. The petition was granted for a new trial. Both parties of the jury were excused at three o'clock until 9:30 Thursday morning. There were seven cases on the trial list for Thursday but all were settled or otherwise disposed of and taken from the trial list. These included four cases against the Grand Trunk Railway for damages.

It is understood that the Norway Water Company has withdrawn its action against the Paris Manufacturing Company to recover water rental owing to an error in their accounts. The Paris Manufacturing Co. refused to pay the rental since the price was increased on the grounds that the rates were not reasonable. Some weeks ago the Paris Company was notified that its service would be discontinued. But when the day came the water was not shut off but suit was brought.

The Everett murder case will probably be taken up the first part of next week, although there is no certainty as to when it will be reached.

Several civil cases are assigned for the rest of this week.

Court Notes.

The usual court temperance meeting will be held, Tuesday evening, of next week.

Deputy J. M. Bartlett of East Stoneham attends the first jury and C. W. Shaw the second.

In a conversation of local politicians during the first days of court, F. A. Fox requested that any man who was guilty of packing a jury box be refused any office in the gift of either party.

W. A. Barrows has served the longest period of any officer now in attendance at the court house. For 35 years he has been the messenger. There have been but a few terms in that time when he did not attend.
